America's Making Committee Plans Dance October 27

Affair at Hotel Astor to Raise Funds for Organization Clubhouse.

The permanent committee of America's Making has announced that it will hold a carnival and dance at the Hotel Astor Friday evening, October 27, at which members of the thirty-six racial groups comprising this organization will be invited. It is expected that several thousand men and women, many in native costume, will attend.

Following the exposition given at the Seventy-first Regiment Armory last fall, when thirty-two groups worked in harmony to show what their people had done to help make America, the corporation, headed by the president, John H. Finley, decided to make the organization permanent. To that end, Dr. Finley appointed a committee of six, with Gustav Neumann, chairman.

The committee decided on the carnival and dance as one means for furthering the groups and for obtaining the nucleus of a fund with which to open a permanent clubhouse, which will ultimately shelter a national fraternity in which every racial group in the city will be represented. The get together movement is already on a firm foundation.

Dr. Finley, who is deeply interested in the project, has been made honorary president of the carnival and dance, and the members of the original executive committee have been named as honorary vice-presidents. The committee in charge of the affair is headed by William Taylor, prominent in Scottish circles. The other members include Dr. Johannes Hoving, Swedish, finance chairman; William Mayer, Hungarian, floor committee chairman; Allos M. Jackson, French, chairman of the program committee; and Matilda Spence, chairman of the reception committee. Miss Spence was director of the American Making exposition.

The committee has engaged the Grand Ball Room, the roof garden and the east ball room of the hotel and will utilize most of these floors. There will be dancing in all the reserved space from 9 o'clock on, but this will be interspersed with carnival features. Four orchestras and a gypsy band will furnish the music. For the occasion George de Martonfaldy has written an "America's Making" overture, which is a combination of the airs of a score of countries to be represented.

During the night each group will give a short entertainment, typical of its country. These will include Indian, Swedish and Russian dances, the latter by 100 sons of Bavaria. One of the features will be the appearance of Scottish Highlanders, who will play bagpipes, while other Highlanders dance.

Admission will be by invitation only. Each group has sent out 250 invitations and 1,000 cards have been sent to prominent "Yankees," as the committee calls Americans by birth and heredity. The groups include Greek, Spanish, Icelandic, Norwegian, Portuguese, Italian, Russian, English, Lithuanian, Dutch, German, Estonian, Finnish, Welsh, Czech-Slovak, Polish and Lettish sons and daughters.

The members of the committee of six working with Mr. Neumann are Col. J. H. Mayhew, head of America's Making Irish Section; Prof. Leon Foran, Rumanian Section; Major Louis Livingston Seaman, English Section; Mrs. Thomas Apple, Swedish Section; and Dr. Hoving, Swedish Section.

Second Annual Exhibition of the Art Directors' Club

Three Medals to Be Awarded at Press View at the Art Center on Wednesday—Attractive Program for Supper on Friday.

The second annual exhibition of the Art Directors' Club will be held at the Art Center, opening with Press View tomorrow. At the same time a jury composed of Frederic J. Suhr, chairman; Jules Guerin, Cass Gilbert, Royal Cortissoz, Robert Henri and Stanley Resor will award the Art Directors' medals. Three of these medals will be given, one in the division of black and white illustration and design, one in the division of painting and drawing in color and one in the division of posters.

Next Wednesday evening, October 11, will be an Art Center evening, a social occasion, for which several thousand members of the Art Center have been invited. That evening also will serve as the formal opening of the entire Art Center show.

On Friday, October 13, comes the supper at the Art Center, for which the committee has arranged an attractive program. Artists and their friends will be present. There is no superstition about the date, the only bad luck promised is for those who miss the supper.

The original drawing and proof of the finished advertisement in which it appeared will be hung together this year. Three hundred and fifty drawings will be shown. Art Directors feel that these exhibitions of theirs are important. Some of the questions they are asking are: What is advertising doing to or for art?

Are bacon and eggs fit subjects for still life? Can art do justice to a subject instead of a coach and four?

Have the large sums of money that have passed into the hands of artists from this year's field been good or bad for art? Has advertising given any artist a chance that otherwise would have had no chance?

Has advertising ruined any artist that otherwise would have become a great portrait, landscape or mural painter? Is it as good to be a great commercial artist as it is to be a great portrait painter? Will it ever be?

Will the advertising tail ever wag the editorial dog?

Should it?

Is there any work now being done in advertising that will live any length of time as art?

Is the use of pictures in advertising?
